69th Annual

Citizen of the Year Award

Criteria Information

The Citizen of the Year Award is presented annually to a special man or woman for outstanding contributions to the civic and business community and to the economic vitality of eastern Connecticut.

The Citizen of the Year Selection Committee is appointed by the Chair of the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce of Eastern Connecticut and is designated to review nominations and select an individual who is most deserving of the award.

No candidate will be considered who is paid to perform the services for which he or she was nominated, unless the contribution encompassed altruism toward the community far beyond the dictates of the job.

Nominations are in no way restricted based on age, sex, race, occupation, religion, or membership in the Chamber of Commerce of Eastern Connecticut, Inc. However, all things being equal, the betterment of commerce will be an added determinant in the selection process.

There is no time limit during which the nominee's distinguished service to the community was rendered. Accomplishments can be during the previous year, in recent years, or over a lifetime.

While the nominee does not need to be a native of eastern Connecticut, he or she must be a resident now or at the time during which the distinguished service was performed.

The number of times the same individual is nominated each year will have no bearing in the selection process. Only the achievements and contributions of the nominee will be considered. Nominations should be explicit in addressing these criteria.

While the committee will attempt to select a single award recipient, special conditions may be present in which dual awards may be given. This is the prerogative of the committee.
